

LifeSource Health, Inc. Announces Pilot Agreement for AtTheScene™ With Physicians Ambulance Service of Cleveland

AtTheScene™ platform allows for connection to Ohio's CliniSync Health Information Exchange so EMTs can access vital health information for patients

SYRACUSE, NY / March 21, 2017. LifeSource Health, Inc. has signed agreements that will give Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) access to a patient's health information during an emergency run. LifeSource Health will begin operations in Ohio by deploying the company's AtTheScene™ mobile cloud based platform for Emergency Medical Technicians. The agreements include an arrangement with the Ohio Health Information Partnership, which manages CliniSync, the state's health information exchange (HIE) that gathers, stores and provides medical data to agencies across the state. LifeSource Health also signed a pilot agreement with Physicians Ambulance Service, Inc., which is an EMS service providing emergency medical transport of 55,000 cases per year in Northeast Ohio.

LifeSource's mobile application and underlying connectivity system, AtTheScene™, will allow the EMTs at Physicians Ambulance Service to access health data from CliniSync on all of its medical transport calls. After receiving the 911 call, the EMTs can request patient data; and in approximately a half a minute, they receive a download of vital medical information to their mobile devices. The medical data includes allergies, recently-prescribed drugs and recent medical history from the HIE. This allows the EMTs to avoid making medical mistakes that can cause complications for patients.

Adam Rossbach, the HIE Director at CliniSync, said, "The access to data that AtTheScene will provide to EMTs furthers the mission of CliniSync to deliver vital medical information to all medical providers in our region. We have been looking for a method to allow mobile providers the ability to view patient data in a secured and easy to use format. This will be another step forward towards maximizing the utility of the medical data we have carefully gathered over the past several years."

David LaVance, President of LifeSource Health, said, "The opening up of Ohio to LifeSource's AtTheScene™ service is a big step for our company, said. "We were looking for contracting partners in Ohio who are interested in deploying the medical data to the providers who need it, and both CliniSync and Physicians Ambulance Service see the immediate value AtTheScene™ brings to their operations and the patient communities they serve."

Jason Hess, a Vice-President at Physicians Ambulance Service, also noted, "We have been searching for an application our EMTs could use in the field when they have an emergency run. The AtTheScene™ app will be installed on all of our techs' laptops, and we are expecting them to use it every time they have an emergency run. There are approximately 1.1 million emergency transports statewide per year. We do about 55,000 transports per year, and the information is vital to improving patient service and outcome.”

The addition of the Pilot Agreement in Ohio comes on the heels of Lifesource Health's successful test pilot of AtTheScene™ at the Central New York Health Information Exchange, along with the Federal HER certification. This has allowed the company to expand through New York, Ohio, and several additional State HIEs across the country.
